

Tiba Personalberatung

Headhunter for Project Managers

As executive search consultants we support our customers in the external and internal filling of vacancies in project environments. We choose unconventional approaches and invest systematically in the development of modern search engines and the utilization of the Social Networks. This provides our clients tangible benefits in terms of cost and time.

Our experience supports your business

Since 1989 the Tiba Group consults and supports companies from different industries in enhancing their project performance. Our services comprise management consultancy, education, software consulting and project support.

With the establishment of Tiba Personalberatung GmbH we can provide for our client's increased demand for recruiting project managers and PMO staff.

As project management experts with practical project and leadership experience we identify and attract project professionals that add to your team ideally:

- Project Managers
(Engineering, plant construction, ICT)
- Head of project management and Head of PMO
- PM-software experts / project schedulers
(e.g. MS-Project, Planisware, Primavera)
- Experts for interface positions
(e.g. sales engineers, project procurement managers, project quality managers)

Benefits

- Twenty years of active engagement in the project management and consulting business bringing you access to our network of qualified Project Managers and Project Management experts.
- Due to our recruiting methods through social media, we are able to identify and recruit candidates that may not be found on traditional target lists.
- You have access to our testing instruments proven over many years which systematically evaluate Project Management leadership and the social competencies of Project Managers and future Executive Managers.

Our business objective

Our vision is to become the leading Executive Search Consultant for management and expert positions in project environments. Since our establishment, we have experienced multiple successes with recruitment and as a result we were able to attract considerable international clients. We will continue to expand and achieve our market position as leading Executive Search Consultants for project positions.

We will also concentrate our efforts on supporting our clients' project performance through selective recruitment of professional staff.
